Decision-making capacity – the ability to understand the significant benefits, risks, and alternatives to proposed health care and to make and communicate a reasoned health care decision.

Physician/attending physician – a person licensed to practice medicine and/or surgery by a state licensing authority. An attending physician is a physician with primary responsibility for the treatment and care of an offender.

Revocation – when an offender communicates, in any manner, the offender's wishes to discontinue or change a health care directive or a durable power of attorney for health care decisions.

Terminal illness and/or injury – a progressively deteriorating condition that is life threatening and determined to be incurable with current available technology. Death is anticipated from this illness or injury or a complication thereof within the foreseeable future, regardless of the administration of life-sustaining treatment.
