Minnesota Department of Corrections
DATA PRIVACY/MONITORING NOTICE

Name: _____ _____ _____
Last First OID

In order to make decisions about your living assignment and other programs and services, or to conduct investigations, throughout your incarceration you will be interviewed and/or questioned to obtain personal information. Some of this information is classified as private data and some of it is classified as confidential data. This data cannot be released to anyone who is not authorized by you or by law to have access to it. If you choose not to answer these or other questions, our ability to meet your safety, health and security needs may be limited.

In order to protect the public and ensure the security, good order and discipline of all Minnesota Department of Corrections facilities, all incarcerated people's communications, including mail, telephone and in-person communication are subject to monitoring.

Incarcerated people will be allowed to have unmonitored communications with their attorneys according to existing policy.
